LIFE IN MOROCCO.

Raphael Tuck & Sons' ART PUBLISHERS TO THEIR MAJESTIES THE KING & QUEEN.

A Moorish School. In buildings beautiful with elaborately carved and painted wooden overlay to every door and window, seated on rugs of pure and beautiful colour, the young Moorish idea is taught "how to shoot." Here they squat repeating parrot-wise after their master the lessons for the day. Jewish schools have a broader curriculum than the purely Moorish ones, but there is a difference over the official languages spoken in them, which is French.

(FOR ADDRESS ONLY.)

This is an academy
